Connections Offers Telehealth Services For First Responders

Social distancing is unnatural for many. In times of uncertainty and perceived danger, we naturally flock together. However, now what we do by instinct is potentially dangerous and it all feels very unnatural!

Until COVID-19 has run its course, Telehealth is a great alternative for those seeking in-person counseling services.

Confidential counseling services are available to you, your spouse and your dependents through the First Responders Assistance Program at NO COST to you.
